Interpretation

ANCA testing is needed in suspected cases of Vasculitis and Acute Glomerulonephritis.

Two patterns are noted cANCA & pANCA associated with vasculitis.

cANCA pattern is noted due to antibodies against proteinase-3 (PR3). It is seen in majority patients of Wegner’s granulomatosis (90%).

pANCA pattern is noted due to antibodies against Myeloperoxidase (MPO), lactoferrin, cathepsin and elastase. pANCA is seen in Microscopic Polyarthritis, Churg-Strauss syndrome, glomerulonephritis, and minor cases of Wegner’s microscopic polyarthritis.

Atypical ANCA may be seen in cases of certain drug exposures, ulcerative colitis and rheumatoid arthritis.

Advise: - In cases with positive ANCA results, “ANCA ELISA” and “Vasculitis LIA” should be added on for confirmation.

Kindly correlate with clinical findings
